

Vishwa Hindu Parishad of America organizes the

2011 VIVEKANANDA FAMILY CAMP

At Tolland, MA: August 14-20, 2011 (Sun to Sat)

At Tabernacle (Medford), NJ: August 14-20, 2011 (Sun to Sat)

Enrollment is limited. Apply early to save money and avoid disappointment.

Purpose

There are two, one week long residential camps where youth can learn about and practice Hindu values while participating in a variety of fun activities with their peers in a disciplined and congenial atmosphere. Parents and guardians serve as volunteers/counselors under the guidance of camp organizers. This popular camp has been run for over 29 years in the Northeast. More information is available in the FAQ overleaf and in the instructions for the application forms. Photos from the past camps can be viewed at the web site <http://camps.vhp-america.org>

Activities

Exercises, yoga, classes on Hindu philosophy and practices, crafts and skills (ranging from mehendi to woodworking depending on the age group), science experiments. Swimming/ canoeing, games (e.g. Kho, Kabaddi), cultural programs put on by campers (dance/drama, music etc.), campfire, discussions with eminent people from the community. All youths (ages 8-18) must participate in all the activities planned for them unless excused by the camp doctor/ nurse or camp director.

Facilities

The camps are held in beautiful, well equipped facilities that are owned/maintained by Girl Scouts of America. They are located in a natural wooded area. Boys and girls stay in separate cabins/tents with one or two counselors of the same gender. Hot showers are available. Most of the programs take place in the dining hall/program center building and other smaller buildings. Vegetarian meals & snacks (including Dal, rice, pizza, tacos, fruits, milk, and cookies) are served.

Who Can Participate?

Youth ages 8-18 can attend the camp with a parent volunteer who is attending the camp for the whole week. Limited seats are available for youths without participating parents (they pay a higher fee and must appoint an adult guardian who is attending). All age groups participate as below:

Below 8: As accompanying children with volunteer parents.

8-18: Youth participants.

16-18: In Leadership Training program, limited positions and by special application, participants will receive training as well as opportunities to develop leadership skills and a Certificate will be issued upon successful completion.

Above 18: As volunteering parents, guardians or invited teachers/counselors. All must possess good health and abide by camp discipline. See instructions with application forms for details.

Fees for the camp range from $100 to $300 per person depending on the age, how early your application is complete and if a parent is coming with camper. There is a $25 per family discount if you refer a family which comes for the first time. Discounts are also available in hardship cases.

Send the application by June 25th 2011 to receive early registration discount.

FAQ: Frequently Asked Questions about Registration for Vivekananda Family Camp

Q1. I am not a Vishwa Hindu Parishad of America (VHPA) member yet. Can my family come to the camp?

A1. You must be willing and able to participate in all the Hindu camp activities, such as Aarti, yoga etc. The camp participation would provide/extend your family membership for one year.

Q2. How can I save money?

A2. Each camper gets the lowest fee by coming with a parent. He/she also gets an additional $50 discount for registering early by June 25th, 2011. A family gets a $25 per family discount for referring another family who registers for the camp for the first time. Please refer to fee schedule in the instructions.

Q3. Can my children stay with me in the same tent/cabin?

A3. Only accompanied children below 8 can stay with their parent. If there is a medical reason, then camp registrar along with the camp doctor may grant a special request regarding accommodation. All persons must stay in assigned accommodations.

Q4. Can my child or I come for part of the camp week?

A4. Sorry, the answer is no. Camp rules do not permit part week attendance by campers or parents/guardians. Attendees must make a commitment to attend for the whole week except for cases of family or medical emergency. People with specialized skills who are coming as invited teachers can make prior arrangements to come for the part they are teaching.

Q5. What is the policy for campers coming without parents?

A5. Please submit camp application with the required fees (see instructions for the application) and signatures of the guardian who would be attending the camp with your child. You would be notified of the status of your application.

Q6. I want my child to have experience of this camp but my spouse or I are unable to come to the camp. Why is it such a big deal for a parent to attend the camp?

A6. Over the past 25 years we have received nearly unanimous feedback from parents that Vivekananda Family Camp was a great family experience. The camp provides a new setting to nurture your relationship with your children, to be a role model for your family in a social setting and compare notes with other parents and community members. It is true that one week at the camp represents a considerable amount of time for people who get only two weeks vacation per year. However, the opportunity to invest in family is significant enough to warrant the investment of one week. Obviously, no one can guarantee if your expectations would be met or exceeded.

Q7. My son/daughter has just finished college and wants to help out as a volunteer.

A7. Past campers or people who have been to Vivekananda camp for at least three years are encouraged to apply as counselors. Others would have to apply to be accepted as invited teachers (see question 9 below).

Q8. I have been accepted as a volunteer. Can a friend/relative join me? Can they visit me during the camp?

A8. Parents or family members who have not registered as volunteers can visit the camp on Sunday or Saturday only and are not allowed to visit on weekdays. There is no walk-in registration for anyone. This is a family camp with primary focus on children. Adults, other than campers' parents or guardians can come as invited teachers only.

Q9. I have very good skills. Can I help out as a teacher?

A9. Teaching assignments are by invitation only and teachers/counselors also pay the volunteer fee. Apply well in advance with letters of recommendation by VHP governing council members. Application does not assure acceptance.

Q10. Where can I get more information?

A10. Application forms and instructions can be downloaded from <http://camps.vhp-america.org> Photographs from past camps may also be viewed at the website. You can talk to an area coordinator or some of the hundreds of people who have been to the camp during the past years who may have children in the same age group as yours.

Q11. Are there any subsidies or Discounts?

A11. Yes. Please contact your area coordinator or the registrar for consideration in case you have a genuine case of financial hardship. There is a $25 per family discount if you refer a family which comes for the first time.

Q12. Is there a dress code?

A12. Yes. Guidelines are included with instructions for camp forms.

Q13. Why are there so many rules for camp enrollment?

A13. The camp provides age-wise activities for six age groups from early morning till night and covers physical, cultural, recreation, meals (3 meals and 2 snacks per day), and waterfront areas and requires year round planning by the organizers. State laws impose certain regulations for everyone's safety. The rules have been established to assure a successful camp year after year.

INFORMATION FOR CAMPER'S AND VOLUNTEER'S APPLICATION FORMS

Deadline for Application: Register early by June 25, 2011 and save. Regular registration by July 23, 2011. Either one or both parents should attend the camp as volunteer(s). Limited seats are available for campers who apply to come (without a parent and) with a guardian and pay higher fees.

Objective: It is a one week long residential camp where youth can learn about and practice Hindu values while participating in a variety of fun activities with their peers in a disciplined and congenial atmosphere.

Age Limits: Boys and girls born after August 1, 1993 and before August 1, 2003 (ages 8-18) can be admitted as campers. Among them, those in age group 16-18 are enrolled in the Leadership Training Program based on selection process. Those under age 8 come as accompanying children. Above 18 attend as volunteers (as parents, guardians or invited teachers/counselors).

Leadership Training Program: Fifteen positions are reserved in each camp for those in 16-18 age group. They will be provided training as well as opportunities to practice skills for planning, scheduling and organizing programs for their peers and other groups. Their schedule is more rigorous than other participants. A certificate will be awarded upon successful completion. Apply early to avoid disappointment.

Parents, Guardians: Parents or guardians appointed by campers' parents serve as volunteers/counselors under the guidance of the camp organizers. All adults coming to the camp must be in good health, be able to carry out indoor and outdoor activities on their own and typically should have a US driver's license. A camper's sibling (with camp experience and subject to registration committee approval) over 18 can serve as a guardian for him/her. All other guardians must be over 25. An adult can serve as a guardian for no more than one camper in addition to his/her own children.

Invited Teachers / Counselors: Those over 18 who are not coming as parent volunteers or guardians may come only as invited teacher/counselor. Please submit a letter of recommendation from a Vishwa Hindu Parishad Governing Council Member along with your application unless you have received a specific invitation from the camp registrar. You will be notified of acceptance. Youth who have attended three camps in the past are especially encouraged to apply.

Separate Application Forms: A separate application form and a "Health History and Medical Form" should be filled out for every individual. Volunteer's (age over 18) application form is different from camper forms. Forms may be freely copied or can be downloaded from <http://camps.vhp-america.org>

Admission: You will be notified of acceptance/rejection/status within six weeks after receipt of your application (with proper fees and medical information). There is no walk-in registration. No substitution is allowed for campers or adults. Limited seats are available for campers coming without a parent.

Discipline: Adults and children should read the discipline guidelines given below and both should sign the application form. Regulations require reference checks, criminal offence registry information (CORI) and Sex Offenders Registry Information (SORI) checks of all volunteers.

Duration of Camp: For campers and volunteers, each camp runs from Sun. 1pm to Sat. 1pm. Provision for part-time attendance by parents or a guardian is no longer available.

Refund Policy: Cancellations must be received in writing by July 23, 2011 to receive a refund (less a non-refundable processing fee of $50.00 per family). No refund can be made after that date.

Activities: Typical activities include exercises, yoga, classes on Hindu philosophy and practices, crafts and skills (ranging from mehendi to woodworking depending on the age group), science experiments, swimming/canoeing, Indian games (e.g. Kho, Kabbadi), cultural programs put up by campers (dance, drama, music etc.) campfire, discussions with eminent people in the community. Check out <http://camps.vhp-america.org> for photographs from past camps.
